

WHERE IT WAS DONE

Joe Bing, he cut ten cord o' wood
From rise to set o' sun;
He cut it, an' he piled it, too,
Yes, sir, that's w'at he done.
To cut ten cord o' wood, I vow,
Is one tremendous chore—
Joe Bing cut his behind the stove
In Luscomb's grocery store.

Joe Bing, he cut eight load o' hay,
I swan, an' raked it, too;
He could, I guess, before he slept,
An' in twelve hours by the clock
He was entirely through.
Cut jes' as many more—
He cut it where he did the wood,
In Luscomb's grocery store.

Joe Bing, he ploughed four acres onct,
He ploughed it good an' neat,
An' 'fore the sun had near gone down
The job was all complete.
The horses never turned a hair,
Was't tired, nor less' bit sore
He ploughed it all in one short day—
In Luscomb's grocery store.

Joe Bing, he made five dollars onct
By simply pickin' hops;
He done it all in just a day
With time for sev'ral stops.
He could as well a' kept it up
A dozen days or more.
Where was it done? The same ol' place—
In Luscomb's grocery store.

At the revival services at the Christian Church last night, Rev. P. A. Cave delivered an eloquent sermon on the theme of God's wonderful love for the world. As a parent loves his child, so God loves us, and as a father loves his children, whether they obey him or not, so God loves us whether we obey him or not. As a father will always go to the relief of his child in distress even when that child has brought on his misfortune by his own willful misconduct, so God stands ever ready to rescue the perishing and save the vilest sinners if they will only trust him. You are missing much if you are not attending this meeting. Preaching every night this week.
